

Seminar: Advanced Study of Taxation and Economic Policies (Spring / Fall)

Instructor: Prof. Eimon Ueda

Required (1st and 2nd yr.) / Seminars / 2 credits

---

This seminar will discuss various aspects of economic policy making in meeting the challenges of globalization. The goal is to broaden and deepen students' knowledge of and understanding on issues particularly related to tax policies and tax administration. Theoretical aspects as well as practical experiences of specific countries in implementing tax policies will be studied. Issues that are currently being discussed at various international fora will also be reviewed. The extensive discussions on these issues during the class will enable students to familiarize themselves with these issues and to engage in more informed and effective discussions. The emphasis of the course will be placed more on what is happening in the real world, especially in developing countries, and the discussions will be made from the perspective of policy makers.

Course Plan

- 1 Introductory discussions
  - 2 Lecture and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 3 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 4 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 5 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 6 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 7 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 8 Presentation and discussion (Topics to be decided)
  - 9 Presentation of MA thesis summary
  - 10 Presentation of MA thesis summary
  - 11 Presentation of MA thesis summary
  - 12 Presentation of MA thesis summary
  - 13 Wrap up discussion
- Other Class discussion on topical issues

Method of Evaluation :

Evaluation will be based on presentations and class participation.

Textbooks :

There will be no textbooks; copies of required/recommended reading material will be distributed as necessary.

Lecturer's Comments to Students :

Seminar students are required to actively participate in classroom discussions and make presentations on topics assigned to them based on relevant papers. Discussions will be conducted entirely in English. Strengthening students' presentational skills, in both oral and written forms, will also be emphasized during the course.

Questions/Comments :

Questions will be answered via e-mails at any time.