

*International Comparisons of Taxation in Developing Countries
2009*

Keio University
Faculty of Business and Commerce

International Comparisons of Taxation in Developing Countries 2009

This study tries to compare economic environments, fiscal positions, tax systems, tax administration and prospects in tax reform in selected developing countries, namely, China, Indonesia, Bangladesh, Nepal and Pakistan.

In so doing, we can identify common needs in tax reform such as tax-bare broadening, simplifying tax schedule, neutralizing tax burden, efficiency and equity improving.

At the same time, country-specific issues vary from country to country. They reflect different stages of development in respective countries.

Members of this study consists of

| | |
|--------------------|---|
| Yukinobu Kitamura | Keio University, Faculty of Business and Commerce |
| Zhang Hui | Keio University, Graduate Student |
| Firman Tatariyanto | Keio University, Graduate Student |
| Nahida Faridy | Keio University, Graduate Student |
| Dibya Raj Pokhrel | Keio University, Graduate Student |
| Shafi Ullah Khan | Keio University, Graduate Student |

Contents

Introduction

vii

| | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 1. | China Zhang Hui | 1 |
| 2. | Indonesia Firman Tatariyanto | 45 |
| 3. | Bangladesh Nahida Faridy | 99 |
| 4. | Nepal Dibya Raj Pokhrel | 151 |
| 5. | Pakistan Shafi Ullah Khan | 213 |

Introduction

This study tries to compare economic environments, technical assistance in fiscal policy and tax administration in selected developing countries; China, Indonesia, Bangladesh, Nepal and Pakistan.

Individual country chapter shares basically the same organizational framework.

- I. Introduction
- II. Macroeconomic Activity
 - A. International Environment
 - B. Domestic Environment
 - C. Fiscal Position
- III. Tax System
- IV. Country-Specific Issues
- V. Summary and Conclusion

In so doing, we can compare countries on the same issues, identify similarities and difference and highlight country-specific issues.

Individual country chapter is written by a tax expert of respective country. It contains valuable statistical and policy information. Individual chapters, then, are compiled and edited by Yukinobu Kitamura.