

*International Comparisons of Taxation in Developing Countries
2012*

Keio University
Faculty of Business and Commerce

International Comparisons of Taxation in Developing Countries 2012

This study tries to compare economic environments, fiscal positions, tax systems, tax administration and prospects in tax reform in selected developing countries, namely, China, Indonesia, Malaysia, Pakistan and Nepal.

In so doing, we can identify common needs in tax reform such as tax-bare broadening, simplifying tax schedule, neutralizing tax burden, efficiency and equity improving.

At the same time, country-specific issues vary from country to country. They reflect different stages of development in respective countries.

Members of this study consists of

Yukinobu Kitamura	Keio University, Faculty of Business and Commerce
Deng, Yang	Keio University, Graduate Student
Pudjono, Alpha Nur Setyawan	Keio University, Graduate Student
Md. Tahir, Sazlina Binti	Keio University, Graduate Student
Hassan, Bilal	Keio University, Graduate Student
Sharma, Dhani Ram	Keio University, Graduate Student

Contents

Introduction

vii

1.	China Deng, Yang	1
2.	Indonesia Pudjono, Alpha Nur Setyawan	43
3.	Malaysia Md. Tahir, Sazlina Binti	91
4.	Pakistan Hassan, Bilal	135
5.	Nepal Sharma, Dhani Ram	205

Introduction

This study tries to compare economic environments, technical assistance in fiscal policy and tax administration in selected developing countries; China, Indonesia, Malaysia, Pakistan and Nepal.

Individual country chapter shares basically the same organizational framework.

- I. Introduction
- II. Macroeconomic Activity
 - II. 1 International Environment
 - II. 2 Domestic Environment
 - II. 3 Fiscal Position
- III. Tax System
- IV. Country-Specific Issues
- V. Summary and Conclusion

In so doing, we can compare countries on the same issues, identify similarities and difference and highlight country-specific issues.

Individual country chapter is written by a tax expert of respective country. It contains valuable statistical and policy information. Individual chapters, then, are compiled and edited by Yukinobu Kitamura.